4 Key Questions for Any Situation

Introduction

Whether you're facing a challenge at work, in a relationship, your personal life, or something else, you have what it takes to move forward. To help you, we've put together this PDF with four key questions that you can use in any situation.

As you face various situations in life, try asking yourself these questions. And ask God to lead you to the answers He has for you.

“But when he, the Spirit of truth, comes, he will guide you into all the truth.” -John 16:13a

What do you want most?

1 We all have desires. Some are less important, and some are more important. In this situation can you identify what are your lesser desires, and what are your greater desires?

What is it that you want most? How does identifying that help you in your current situation?

Who do you want to be one year from now?

2

Not where, or with who, or doing what...but who do you want to be?

Will this decision/relationship/situation help you to become more of who you want to be?
Or will it hinder you?

What is your definition of success?

3

For you, what is success - not just in a job or a project, but for your life? Your definition of success can be simple, as long as it's clear and meaningful to you.

How can your definition of success help you in your current situation?

What can you do?

You can always do something – you aren't helpless. In addition to prayer, what else can you do in this situation?

Or, if there are too many options in front of you, try to select one good option to start with.

What is one thing you can do that fits with what you want most, who you want to be, and your definition of success?
